HAD LONG AND FAITHFUL CAREER

Expires At 10:35 A. M. Today; Had Apparently Been In Good Health

This city at 10:35 a. m. today lost one of its well liked citizens when William E. Tyrrell, aged 63, of 9 Atlantic avenue, a traffic policeman, succumbed to heart failure while performing his duty on East Washington, near Mill street.

The officer was traveling along East Washington street inspecting meters and fell backward to the sidewalk in front of the People's Drug store. Tender hands carried the unconscious officer inside the pharmacy.

Dr. W. L. Campbell was called from his office in the Centennial building and administered to the officer who then was placed in an ambulance and rushed to the New Castle hospital.

Widespread sorrow
He expired at 10:35 a. m. as he was being taken to a hospital room. As soon as news of his death became known it cast a pall not only over brother policemen but all those who knew him.

Mr. Tyrrell was born January 21, 1876 and first entered the service of the city as a policeman April 13, 1908. He left the service in December, 1911 and re-entered December 1, 1913.

As a policeman he had a long and faithful career. During several administrations he served as a sergeant and was a staunch worker for civil service for police. He was a trustee of the state body of the Fraternal Order of Police.

Several years ago he was assigned to the traffic division. As a member of the squad he endeavored himself not only to the citizens but to their children who traveled to and from school.

Mr. Tyrrell reported for duty at 8:30 a. m. today. Apparently he was in good health.

Mr. Tyrrell was born in Mineral Ridge, O., but lived in New Castle ever since he was a young man. He married Rose O'Brien 38 years ago

PA NEW OBSERVES

Indicated good weather for Sunday will probably bring a large increase in auto traffic through this section over the week end. Safety in driving should be the first aim of every motorist.

Some repair work to the surfacing of the paving on Highland avenue was under way on Friday.

Pa New saw a crow pilfering a robin's nest this morning. Crows, sparrows and blue jays all have this extremely bad nest robbing trait. Whenever these birds spy an unguarded nest, they swoop down and eat the eggs.

Mother's Day occurs on Sunday, May 14. Several persons asked Pa New if the event occurred tomorrow.

George H. Ward, of Dewey avenue, city fireman, got his first turtle of the season, Friday, which weighed eight pounds. He says there will be turtle soup at the Park Avenue Fire Department, the first of the week.

There was an automobile in town, Friday, with the regular Pennsylvania auto licence attached, also one of another color, black letters and yellow ground. On investigation it was found the latter was a Pennsylvania licence for 1908.

Pope Pius Pleads
With Hitler For Peace In Danzig

Asks Chancellor Hitler To Effect Peaceful Settlement Of Disputed Territory

(International News Service)
VATICAN CITY, May 6.—A plea from Pope Pius XII for a peaceful solution of the Danzig problem was conveyed to Chancellor Hitler by Mgr. Desare Osenigo, Muncio to Berlin, it was learned from unimpeachable authorities today.

Mgr. Osenigo urged a "satisfactory" settlement of all German-Polish differences, it was understood. By submitting positive suggestions to Hitler, the Pope implied that he was willing to offer his services as mediator.

The fact that the Papal Emissary remained with Hitler an hour and a half at Berchtesgaden yesterday was regarded by Vatican authorities as a favorable sign.

Mgr. Osenigo, it was anticipated, will be summoned back to Berchtesgaden when Hitler's reply is ready. Definite details of the Pope's message were not revealed.

Parking Meters Are Big Headache For Pittsburgh Police

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, May 6.—Pittsburgh's safety department had "parking meter" headache today.

A corps of plainclothesmen and traffic planning bureau employees were assigned to guard duty in several districts where 18 meters had been jammed by use of slugs. All the meters, located in East Liberty and on the Northside, were repaired but department heads were anxious to forestall any further damage.

Recover $111,733 Of Clintonville Robbery
Loot Near Enon Valley

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, May 6.—The federal bureau of investigation announced today it had recovered $111,733.32 of the $117,590 taken from the Clintonville, Pa., National bank when it was held up by three armed men on Oct. 14, 1938.

Negotiable and non-negotiable securities to that amount were found in a secret cache in Lawrence county, about three miles northwest of Enon Valley three days ago, agents said. One of the men indicted for the robbery accompanied officers to the scene, but the G-men refused to reveal his identity.

Held In Pittsburgh
At present, James Murray, 32, of Chicago, one of the principals in the sensational Roundout, Ill., mail robbery a decade ago, and George Slade, 32, also of Chicago, a convicted bank robber, are in the Allegheny county jail awaiting trial for the Clintonville job, agents said.

Murray was brought here from Chicago where he was arrested on (Continued On Page Two)

(International News Service)
LOGANSPORT, Pa., May 6.—Fed by thousands of barrels of bonded whiskey, fire of undetermined origin early today destroyed the Logansport Distillery of the Pennsylvania Distilling Company with an estimated loss that may exceed $1,000,000. Twenty fire companies from a dozen Allegheny valley communities were given their most spectacular assignment in years as the $2,000,000 federal bonded warehouse was razed by flame and explosion that followed the advancing fire.

Will Check Stock
Joseph R. Steinman, vice president of the company, estimated the warehouse loss at between $500,000 and $1,000,000, pending a check on the ages of whiskey consumed in the fire.

Barrel after barrel of bonded whiskey exploded under the terrific heat. The fluid formed a flaming river in a railroad siding, endangering adjoining buildings until firemen and emergency workers cut ditches diverting the stream to the Allegheny river.

Charles Dinder, a watchman, discovered the fire shortly after 9 P. M. last night. At midnight the three-story brick structure collapsed, but at 4 A. M. firemen were still pouring water into the smoldering ruins.

Student Hunted
In Death Of Two

(International News Service)
PHOENIX, Ariz., May 6.—Arizona desert wastes were searched today for Robert Burgunder, 22-year-old State college student, wanted in connection with the mysterious dual slaying of two Phoenix automobile salesmen.

The victims, Jack Peterson, 37, and Ellis M. Koury, 25, were found shot to death in Sandy Wash, several miles southeast of Phoenix. They had been missing for five days and were found by a farmer who had gone into the desert to bury a hog. The bodies were trussed and tied with belts and neckties, the farmer said.

Gov. James Signs
Emergency Tax
Levies For State

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, May 6.—The James administration's $163,000,000 tax program became a reality today with the signature by Gov. Arthur H. James of eight bills re-enacting levies of the Earle administration on gasoline, liquor, cigarettes, money and business transactions.

In addition, the governor signed a bill authorizing the state to issue up to $175,000,000 in tax anticipation notes. This will make expected revenues available before the funds actually begin flowing into the state treasury.

Berlin-Tokyo-Rome
Axis Begins To Crack

By ROBERT G. NIXON
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, May 6.—Secret reports to Washington indicate the Berlin-Tokyo-Rome axis is beginning to crack up.

The belief is growing in responsible quarters that the partnership of Germany, Italy and Japan would not stand the strain of any major war precipitated by Germany's ambition to dominate Europe.

Premier Mussolini of Italy is understood to have urged Chancellor Hitler of Germany to move with extreme caution in his demands on Poland, intimating that Italy is not prepared to plunge into a general war just because the Reich wants Danzig and the Polish Corridor.

This is assigned as the reason for Germany's frantic current wooing of Italy in an effort to bring forth a definite alliance for mutual military assistance if further steps by the Reich in central Europe should touch off a major conflict.

High officials of the American, British and French governments have not given up hope that Italy may desert her axis partner again as she did in the World war.

NEW YORK, May 6.—Spurred by President Roosevelt's adjuration that "agreement must be reached promptly," deadlocked Appalachian soft coal miners and union leaders today strove to formulate a labor contract for the bituminous industry now gripped by a nationwide production stoppage and with fuel supplies dwindling with each passing hour.

President Roosevelt's appeal for involvement of a "fair, honorable and workable agreement" served to reinforce the warning of James Kieran, secretary to Mayor Fiorello H. Judge Orders Quiz
In Numbers Suit

YOUNGSTOWN, O., May 6.—Common Pleas Judge Erskine Maiden, Jr., on Friday ordered leaders of Youngstown's biggest lottery "bank" to answer a 40-question interrogatory in connection with the civil suit of Herbert F. Bodine, private investigator, who has sued to recover $400,000 which Bodine claims was lost by Youngstown residents to the "Big House" numbers gang, in a six-months period last year.

Judge Maiden's action will make it mandatory for the eight persons named as defendants in Bodine's suit to show the full extent of their business, the amount of all property held, the amounts received from numbers bets and how their money was spent and where it was deposited.

Although the interrogatory was inserted into the suit without comment from Judge Maiden, it was understood that a question, asking the defendants to name all persons who had shared in the numbers receipts, might make it mandatory to disclose whether any money was paid for "protection" in the years that the "Big House" operated here.

May Push P. U. C. "Ripper Law"

Measure Pending Since April 18th

Republicans Seek To Force Approval Of Gov. James' Appointments

MAY CALL SENATE VOTE ON "RIPPER"

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, May 6.—The administration today was apparently decided to push through to enactment the P. U. C. "ripper" law unless senate Democrats agree without further delay to confirm Gov. Arthur H. James' appointments to the Public Utility Commission.

Sen. G. Mason Owlett, Tioga, Republican floor leader, announced that the Stockham-Alsop bill, which has already passed the house, would be called up for final vote Monday night. The bill makes political activity a grounds for removal of P. U. C. commissioners.

The P. U. C. "ripper" law has been on the senate's postponed calendar since April 18. Democrats contend no final vote has been taken because the Republicans lack sufficient votes for passage. Republicans contend they wanted to give the Democrats a chance to "see the light" before they passed the drastic bill.

Passage of the P. U. C. "ripper" will not only threaten the tenure of the three Democratic members of the commission but will also probably assure the confirmation of John Higgins of Warren and another member still to be appointed by a majority instead of a two-thirds vote. There are two vacancies on the commission which Governor James is anxious to fill.

RECOVER $11,733 OF CLINTONVILLE LOOT NEAR ENON VALLEY

April 16 by G-men. Slade was brought north from the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga., where he had been serving a 21-year stretch for two bank robberies, that of the First National bank at Millford, Pa., on Dec. 17, 1935, and the Blairstown, N. J., National bank on Aug. 21, 1935.

Led To Cache

Agents said they were led to the cache, in a heavily-wooded section near Enon Valley, by one of the indicted men and there they dug up the securities. Pennsylvania state motor police co-operated on the recovery of the loot, hidden in a very remote rural section.

When the Clintonville bank was robbed, the bandits obtained $111,733.32 in securities, $4,659 in cash and a diamond pin valued at $1,200. The cash and pin have not been recovered, agents said.

Murray and Slade subsequently were indicted on March 21, 1939, together with a "John Doe". Murray, after his arrest in his Chicago home fought an unsuccessful battle against extradition to Pennsylvania.

Slade, FBI officials said, has admitted participation in about 16 different bank robberies. At present he is serving time for only two crimes, six years for the Millford robbery and 15 years for the Blairstown stickup.

make the next move in the Polish-German dispute over the free city of Danzig and the Polish corridor. The government stood squarely upon Foreign Minister Josef Beck's speech before parliament, in which he rejected Germany's "one-sided" demand for restoration of Danzig to the Reich and asked whether the German claim to a sovereign right of way across the corridor was not a move to cut off Poland from the Baltic.

Many circles in Warsaw took the view that the decision as to whether Europe's tension will continue now rests on the shoulders of Chancellor Adolf Hitler. German hints of a campaign aimed at a plebiscite in Danzig were being watched closely.

Authorities pointed out, however, that Beck did not close the door to further negotiations with the Reich. They said that by offering to negotiate a settlement of the controversy on a basis of equality, Beck carefully left the diplomatic door ajar.

Deaths of the Day

Mrs. Lydia Hites Hennessy.

Mrs. Lydia Hites Hennessy, aged 54 years, formerly of this city, who was making her home with her daughter, Mrs. Mary Galvin, in Miami, Fla., was taken ill while visiting in Chicago, Ill., and died at 11:45 p. m. Friday in Cook County Hospital. She had been ill just a few days.

Mrs. Hennessy was born in New Castle on February 12, 1885, daughter of Samuel and Sara Gardner Hites, residents of Smithfield street. For some years Mrs. Hennessy was employed by the New Castle Dry Goods Store. She lived in New Castle until ten years ago. She was a member of the First Christian church.

Surviving are her husband, Patrick Hennessy, two daughters, Mrs. P. H. Dwyer, Jr., of White Plains, N. Y., who is now visiting in London, England, and Mrs. Mary Galvin, of Miami, Fla., the following sisters, Mrs. H. A. Bryant of Ft. Wayne, Ind., Mrs. Robert Coblenz and Mrs. J. K. Russell of New Castle, and Mrs. Louis Nicholson of Ellwood City and one brother, William G. Hites of Youngstown, O. She was preceded in death by a brother, Albert Hites.

The body will arrive in New Castle Sunday from Chicago and the family will receive friends at the R. L. Boyd funeral home, North Jefferson street, Sunday and Monday nights from 7 to 9 o'clock. Services will be conducted at the funeral home Tuesday at 2 p. m. with Rev. G. S. Bennett, D. D., pastor of the First Christian church, in charge.

Miss Sara E. Williams.

Miss Sara E. Williams passed away at her home, 333 East Park avenue, at 11:30 p. m. Friday before a doctor could be summoned. Death was due to a sudden heart attack. She had been in her usual health.

Miss Williams was born in Butler county, daughter of Marcus and Kezia Morrison Williams, but passed almost all her life in New Castle. She was connected with the Glendennin store for years, and later was in the dry goods business on North Mill street. She was a member of the First Christian church and the C. W. Fenton Bible class.

Surviving are the following sisters and brothers: Mrs. Salene Hanna of New Castle, Orin L. Williams of Neshannock township, Newton and Mary E. Williams, at home, and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will take place Monday at 2:30 p. m. in the home, 333 East Park avenue, with Rev. G. S. Bennett, D. D., pastor of the First Christian church, in charge. Interment will be in Oak Park cemetery.

Funeral services for the late William F. Patterson of the Hamilton building, North Mill street, were conducted Friday at 2:30 p. m. in the Jos. S. Rice Co. chapel. Mrs. William Goldbaum, first reader of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, was in charge.

The pallbearers were R. P. Murdoch, W. F. Murdoch, Dr. J. C. Murdoch, E. R. McAnlis, G. A. Homann, and Karl Brelos.

Interment was in Greenwood cemetery.

C. O. Morrow Funeral Time.

Services for the late Clyde O. Morrow, of 320 Reis street, who died in the Jameson Memorial hospital Friday of injuries received in a fall from the third floor of a North Hill home which he was painting, will be conducted on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Jos. S. Rice Co. chapel, East North street.

Rev. William V. McLean, pastor of the First Methodist church, of which Mr. Morrow was a member, will be in charge of the services. Interment will be in Oak Park cemetery.

Friends will be received at the chapel tonight and Sunday night from 7 to 9 o'clock, and Sunday afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock.

Mr. Morrow was born in Shenango township on December 7, 1875, son of John and Eliza Cook Morrow. Forty-four years ago on December 24 he married Ella M. Clements, who survives. Besides his wife he leaves one brother, Ellis Morrow of Cleveland, O., and one sister, Mrs. Violet Thompson of New Castle. Mr. Morrow passed all his 63 years in New Castle, a painter and carpenter by trade.

Mrs. Cleaver Funeral Time.

Funeral services for Mrs. Lydia Cleaver, of 3 Round street, will be conducted Monday at 2 p. m. in St. Luke's A. M. E. Zion church, Elm street, with the pastor, Rev. N. L. Meeks, in charge. Interment will be in Graceland cemetery.

Mrs. Zahniser Services.

Funeral services for the late Mrs. Frederick W. Zahniser of Euclid avenue, were conducted Friday at 2 p. m. from the Howard L. Reynolds funeral home, with Rev. Thomas B. Shearer of the Central Christian church officiating in the place of Rev. G. S. Bennett of the First Christian church, who was ill.

A great many beautiful flowers had been sent to the funeral home in memory of the deceased.

Pallbearers were George and Glenn Zahniser, L. F. Reeher, M. W. McElhane, Will Hahn and Howard A. Reynolds, relatives of the family. Interment was in Oak Park cemetery.

WEEKLY LETTER

Fellow Rotarian:

We will have no meeting Monday but we want you to attend the conference.

We want 100 percent attendance and we can have it if you will register for some session of the conference.

Remember the governor's ball on Tuesday night, dancing and floor show.

Dress at all Rotary functions is informal but you may use your own pleasure in the matter. Tux and evening dresses will not be barred.

Keep in touch with your committee chairman.

We want this second conference of the 175th district to be one long to be remembered.

TENT HALL

4-H GIRLS MEET

The second meeting of the 4-H clothing club was held at the home of the Munn girls Thursday evening. Last year there were twenty-two members and this year there are fourteen new members.

Gertrude Corbin, president, called the meeting to order. Reta Mae Campbell gave a demonstration on how to shrink material and Ella Jane Nixon drafted an apron pattern.

Miss Markle showed how sewing boxes should be equipped and explained keeping record books. The girls were divided into first and second year groups and some enjoyed games, while the others were being instructed.

The next meeting will be held on Tuesday afternoon at 1:30, May 16, at the home of the local leader, Mrs. Hanna Kretzer.

Hopes To Avert Tieup

President Roosevelt hoped, through his action to avert what threatened to become one of the most costly industrial tieups in the history of the nation.

With more than 420,000 miners already idle and coal production almost at a standstill, a serious coal shortage threatened the country. It already has forced curtailment of subway service in New York, and led to shutdowns of many factories. Still wider industrial shutdowns were threatened.

The president, moving to prevent the threatened industrial paralysis, sent his wire to John R. Steelman, department of labor conciliator in New York trying to bring about a settlement of the dispute. It was addressed, however, directly to the joint conference of the union and coal operators and Steelman simply acted as a messenger in delivering the appeal.

PUBLIC INTEREST

ABOVE ALL ELSE SAYS PRESIDENT

John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers and the soft coal operators to continue their work "until a speedy settlement is made."

The president asserted that, because of the nationwide shutdown of coal mines, due to the deadlocked negotiations, the "public interest is paramount and above that of any group"—above that of either the union or the operators.

The executive also told both sides in the dispute that they must "give and take."

Stresses Need For Action

The president, making his appeal in a telegram addressed to the joint conference of miners and operators in New York, twice stressed the need for quick action.

Once in the wire, he stated "time is now important and agreement must be reached promptly." Again the chief executive said "a speedy settlement" was imperative.

Mr. Roosevelt said he acted "as president of the United States" and in the interest of the public.

His action, it was believed, was in response to many appeals sent to

THE DERBY TOO?

It's been a great day in Kentucky — important people from all over the country — fine horses — a fast track — and tonight they're celebrating the winner—whether its Johnstown, or Challenger or Xalapa Clown — but back here in New Castle — those of us who didn't get to the derby can have as much fun — well nearly as much — at the Saturday night party in The Castleton — if your horse won — come up and celebrate — if he lost — come up anyway — you'll need some cheering up — no cover charge — no minimum — no charge for dancing.

News Briefs From City Hall

Extra police will be assigned to help direct traffic in the downtown section this afternoon and tonight according to Commissioner Thomas Jones.

No boys were required to appear in Mayor Charles E. McGrath's boys court today because of infractions during the current week.

Auto of L. F. Catherman, Ohio license J4302, reported stolen April 28, from West Washington street, has not yet been found. An anonymous call to Catherman said the car could be located in Pearson street. An investigation proved the report false.

George Albert, South-Jefferson street, rode a bicycle against an auto assertedly driven by Bert Fullwood, 708 West avenue, in an alley, rear of the 1200 block, South Mill street, last night, police were told. The bicycle was damaged.

Some one stole a case of soft drinks from a warehouse at 502 Bell avenue, last night, according to a report made to police.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

IF CHILD IS SLOW IN SPEECH

While it is true that the child noticeably defective mentally begins speech very late, not nearly all children slow in beginning formal speech are feeble-minded, or even dull. Indeed, some of them are very bright. The baby may have acquired a sign language that has been so well obeyed that he finds no occasion to employ conventional speech. Then defective hearing may retard speech, since it hinders the child from hearing his own vocal sounds. A mother writes from Canada:

"Dear Dr. Myers:—I have a little girl two and a half years old. She is a rather smart child. She understands everything you say to her and knows what everything is. She is not deaf. But as yet she can only say cup, mamma and daddy, door, book, boat and river. All other words I try to teach her, she just grunts. I have tried not giving her a drink or anything else she wants until she will say what it is but have had no results. . . . She has been saying these few words I mentioned for over a year now. She has a sister four years old who plays with her and still it doesn't seem to help her to talk. . . . Please tell me what is best to do for her."

Get Playmates
My reply: Attract other children to play with this child. Don't insist that she talk. Read about a great deal to her. Then let her alone. You can be pretty sure her speech will develop normally, since she started with real words in good time. I have come across a number of such cases who turned out well. If she shows no improvement after several months consult a specialist. Better have her hearing checked now.

For your comfort and the comfort of other mothers with a like problem, let me tell you that you have almost exactly described my eldest son when he was about the same age as your child is now. Like your child, he started off to talk at about a year of age, developed a small array of words and then, until in his third year, added very few words. After that he took a spurt and made up for lost time. That lad graduated at the head of his class in college.

A good book on the subject is Speech Training for Children, by Smiley Blanton.

Useful Education

In the Jordan school district of Utah I came across a music supervisor, Emory Epperson, who is having children in the upper grades and junior and senior high schools learn to sing the songs which have been sung for years in service clubs, business women's clubs and the like, with the hope that by and by they can participate in community singing. Besides, they learn to sing the words of The Star Spangled Banner, American and America the Beautiful. Excellent idea; useful education.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

BELIEVE IT OR NOT

E. V. Durling, a columnist on the Los Angeles Times, tells the following story:

"After buying a popular-make car, it is claimed that the purchaser had his tank filled with gasoline, and drove from Los Angeles to San Diego, where he was amazed to find that he had only used two gallons of gas. He went to Tia Juana and drove back to Los Angeles. This took three gallons of gas. The distance traveled was about three hundred miles, so he figured he was getting sixty miles to a gallon of gas. The firm that sold him the car, on learning this, said they had sold it by mistake; that it had a special carburetor and was not for sale. They very much wanted the car back and gave him for it a new car and $1500 in cash."

That is a weird tale, for if by making any sort of a carburetor that would save that much gas, no doubt the designer of the carburetor would have a special patent issued to him for an improved carburetor and that patent would be worth a lot of money to either General Motors, for instance, or to the Standard Oil Company. General Motors, by controlling such a patent could increase the sales of their cars tremendously to the exclusion of other cars not enjoying the use of this particular carburetor, for there are few cars made in America that will travel more than fifteen miles on a gallon of gas; none that are made that will travel thirty miles. The average distance traveled by a car on a gallon of gas is about fifteen miles. Think of the saving—an average of four hundred per cent of gas consumption!

Well, it would be just too bad for the oil companies. The motor cars made in Europe—the English, French, Belgian, German and Italian cars are for the most part light cars, but they travel a long way on a gallon of gas. They are well-made affairs. There is no such thing as an interchangeable part to be purchased for a European car. You can get a part, but it must be machined down to fit; you just do not take the old part and put in a new part all ready for use. European cars being thusly made, they do give longer service than American cars and they are likewise more expensive, so that comparatively few of these cars are in use. Gasoline is very expensive in Europe and "necessity being the mother of invention" the European manufacturers have found a way of constructing the motor so that it uses a small amount of gas, compared to the American motor.

It is possible that the American motor car manufacturers and American oil companies are conspiring together to keep the consumption of gas much greater than it ought to be.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 7:01. Sun rises tomorrow 4:50.

In our travels we have noticed fewer and smaller cowcatchers on the railroad engines. Are there less cows to catch?

The reason science succeeds is because the fellows it hires are willing to try anything once.

There will be a big convention of Rotarians in this city next week. You know how you like to be treated when at conventions. Do the same with the visitors next week.

And so the New York World's Fair to make sure that it gets its 60,000,000 visitors, is opening with a display of unadorned femininity probably unprecedented in the history of American expositions. The "World of Tomorrow" has been forced to play a poor second to the woman of today. It has long been recognized that the best way to popularize education is to dress it with sugar. Apparently in the "World of Tomorrow" the same effect will be achieved by undressing the sugar.

When some birds are not in jail they are doing something that will get them in. When they are in they are always working to get out. They are really always working at sum-pit!

Every day we see evidences of speech being too free. It looks as if free speech will get the world into a war. In fact it is too rough speech.

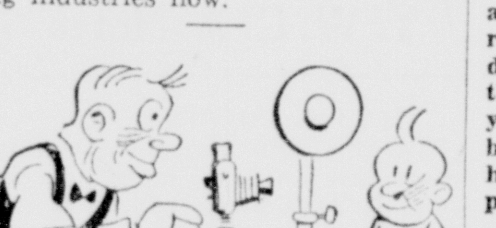

USELESS HORN BLOWING

You can't do it, Buddie. When there is a traffic jam and a long line of cars ahead of you stopped by some chance, you can't get them to move by blowing your horn.

When you blow you only arouse hard feelings and some profanity among all those who are plagued by the noise you make.

Besides, if you knew anything about man psychology which you don't or you would not rely upon your horn to move other drivers you would understand that the drivers of the cars ahead of you in the jam and hearing your racket, resent your show of authority by delaying the movement when the jam breaks and you are held some minutes longer because of your impatience.

Better break that habit of pressing on the horn gadget, buddie. Coming from New York some days ago the old activities we noticed in many cities was on the ball fields and golf courses. Those things are big industries now.

People coming from the south in March see peach, plum and pear blossoms in Georgia and other states. If they go on a trip through south-eastern Pennsylvania in the middle of April they see the same kind of blossoms. Then they also see the same kind of blossoms right in New Castle about this time. Lots of people see the blossoms 'tween times.

"Will you buy a chance on a horse?" You see our church has such a large debt.

Half the homicides committed in the United States arise over some trifling incident, according to a survey just completed by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. Chief among these incidents according to the survey, are domestic disputes. An irate husband kills his wife because his dinner is not ready on time; a youth shoots his mother because she remonstrates against his drinking; a man shoots a friend over the serving of a glass of beer. No less than 11.6 per cent of all homicides follow domestic quarrels no more serious than those just mentioned. The second important occasion of quarrels leading to homicide involve money or property, usually of little value.

Pap says Mother's church society only believes half it hears—the wrong half.

When one speeder gets a fine of about $25 and it is published, it stops all those who read and hear about it. Nothing stops the swift boys more than having to pay for it.

Teacher: "Archie, what is etiquette?" Archie: "Little things you do at the table you don't want to do."

If the local men, with good reputations, would try to pull off some of the rackets pulled off by straights in this city, they would be thrown out of the nearest window in places because the window was nearer than the door. This town certainly stands for a lot of rackets.

Good Taste

Reg. U. S. Patent Office

By Francine Markel

Last night, while reading Sir Thomas Osborne, I marked his statement that covetousness is one of the strongest forces that vitiate good taste. I have been wandering back through the corridors of my memory checking people who have borne this out. Their first symptom has been sullen jealousy of every windfall or even slight legacy received by a relative or friend. Laudable deeds or attributes of others receive only the faint praise that dawns on an invited guest at all the stuff is a wallflower. As the years go by she becomes a recluse because those who have known her have long ago avoided her as a depressant.

Much reticence and silence attributed to wisdom are really the result of covetousness and envy.

Reader's Question Answered
Dear Miss Markel—How is the "double-ring ceremony" handled in a wedding?
BRIDE.

Answer—The bride must buy her bridegroom's wedding ring, and he must buy hers. The maid-of-honor may carry the bridegroom's ring or the bride may carry it herself. In the latter event, she may wear it on her own wedding ring finger, over her glove, or on her little finger. When you make your arrangements with the clergyman, be sure to tell him that yours will be a double ring ceremony, that he may let you know when, during the ceremony, you should place the groom's ring on his third finger of his left hand. This is usually done just before the bride has received her ring.

Republicans Favored Next Year
Have Chance To Win Presidency
Smoke Screen Candidate Is Seen

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

Speculation concerning the respective chances of the various possibilities for the Republican presidential nomination in 1940 has been greatly stimulated by straw polls indicating that the G. O. P. candidate should have slightly better than a 50-50 prospect of election in that year. Probably these straw polls ought not to be taken too seriously. In the past a few of them have proved to be very misleading. However, presidential hopes spring eternal in politicians' breasts. Of course Republican dopesters take the Democratic situation into consideration. They figure like this: If President Roosevelt wishes to be renominated, most likely he will be. If he prefers not, he'll pick his own candidate to succeed him. This, understand me, is the G. O. P. dopesters' talk. Regardless of straw polls, the dopesters incline to admit that, assuming a third campaign by F. D., he's apt to be elected—barring the hazard of some convulsion of nature in the meantime. Still, the dopesters say he might conceivably be beaten. And at most they think he could win only skimpily. They believe he recognizes as much and surmise that he'd deem the anti-climax of a hair-line victory (after his two previous landslide) as little preferable to an outright licking.

Dummy Candidate

Consequently the dopesters' notion is that he'll put up what they refer to as a "dummy"—Harry Hopkins or Henry A. Wallace, for instance. The Republicans are confident of their ability to wallop Hopkins, Wallace or another of their ilk. They may be wrong, to be sure, but that's how they celebrate. They envisage an alternative, though. Suppose conservative Democracy triumphs, with the nomination, illustratively, of John N. Garner or Bennett Champ Clark. Then, the G. O. P. dopesters argue, the Democrats will be split wide open, and Republicans will scoop in the presidency by an avalanche. Thus the Republican managers are extremely optimistic. Perhaps they overflatter themselves, but that's how they feel about it. But as to their own candidate? From their chat, I'd guess that Thomas E. Dewey is No. 1 on the list of a majority of them—not exactly as the greatest of them, but as their most spectacular. Spectacularity counts in such contests.

Next, Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

Taft would be a good party leader, with Dewey as the ticket's tail-end, but it's obvious that the Dewey-Taft would be a choice to wag Taft; not Taft to wag Dewey. The two groups seem to be jealous of one another.

What Noted People Say

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON—Former Secretary of State Bainbridge Colby appeals for a return to isolationism: "We cannot keep out of war if we are intent upon intervention, albeit direct or covert, and find ourselves unable to compress our actions within the impartiality of conduct and practice enjoined by international law."

NEW YORK—Nicholas Murray Butler urges America to meet force with force:

"The form and rules of law which have developed for 200 or 300 years and which we thought had established themselves in an elaborate and highly useful code of international law and conduct, all those who have been thrown to the winds and we are now confronted with pressure politics in the international field of the sort with which we are quite familiar on a smaller scale in the national field."

WASHINGTON—Admiral David L. Leahy says the navy must be expanded:

"In view of the changing alignments in European understandings and alliances as to the community of interests between the nations of Europe and Asia, it is essential that America take steps toward an assurance of security even against possible alliances, and without depending upon assistance from any foreign power."

HOLLYWOOD—Opera Star Grace Moore criticizes Hollywood:

"Hollywood is losing its chance to give people what they want—a variety of good music."

The Great Game Of Politics

By FRANK R. KENT

Relief Revelations

WASHINGTON, May 6. ONE of the distressing results of the war atmosphere which the European crisis has created here is the way in which it has diverted attention from vital domestic problems and dulled the public sensitiveness to what ordinarily would be sensational news.

THERE is no way by which this can be helped. The things that normally would stir politicians, rivet upon them newspaper attention and cause a real public reaction, are greatly minimized in competition with the appalling situation abroad. Compared with the prospect of another general conflict in which we are likely to be directly involved, and certain to be deeply affected, national issues other than those connected with defense are obscured. The tendency among politicians and publicists alike is to push them aside and pontificate upon international affairs about which, in most cases, they have little or no actual knowledge.

FOR these reasons recent revelations concerning the administration of relief in this country, brought out by the House committee, would seem worth repetition. By long odds this is our greatest national problem. Upon it in the last six years billions of dollars have been expended. Billions more will be expended in the next six years. The inevitability of this is conceded and the people are willing to bear the burden of caring for the distressed unemployed. However, they have a right to demand that relief be free from three things—politics, waste and subversive influence.

IF they do not insist upon these, then relief becomes a menace to the safety as well as the solvency of the country. Freedom from these things is the only way in which the burden can be made tolerable. It took a Democratic committee of the Senate to establish the vehemently denied charges that the WPA was saturated with politics and in various States being used as a political instrument to keep New Deal politicians in power. Apparently a Democratic House committee is now going to establish the charges that the WPA is not only outrageously wasteful but in many instances dominated by Communists, working through the so-called Workers Alliance and in other ways.

AT a recent hearing concerning the WPA Federal Writers' project, testimony was presented identifying fourteen of the twenty-three employed supervisors as Communists. Evidence was further presented to show that membership in the Communist party or the Workers Alliance, which is dominated by Communists, is an aid in obtaining appointment to WPA jobs; that the head of one WPA project instigated a sit-down strike against his own organization in order to "impress" Washington; that WPA construction work costs two and a half times as much as under private operation; that money provided by Congress for relief had been used to pay workmen who were not on relief at all.

THESE and other facts, showing WPA wastefulness and the extent to which the Communistic influence is felt in key positions, have been brought out. They have been denied by the Administration just as up to a few months ago the WPA political activities were denied. Yet, Administration officials recognize the Workers Alliance and consort with its leaders, though one way and another the true nature of the organization and the Communistic hook-up of its directors have been made increasingly plain. The cold fact is that here is an agency conceived by Communists and designed to put pressure on the Government, which the heads of the government (Continued On Page Seven)

THE ELUSIVE BEST

Man never reaches to the topmost height. Almost beyond his strength his goal appears. Always his cherished dreams outrun his years. His best ambitions lie beyond his might. Strangers may view his labors with delight. But he into the distance vainly peers. And plans and hopes that faintly pierce his vision clear. He may draw closer to the infinite. Man's best is but a hint of what he feels. A mere suggestion of his lofty dreams. To him the sun of all that he reveals. But half-expressed and ineffectual seems. There's always something, to life's final hour, Some bud of hope he never brings to flower.

Steady TodayMarket Dealings Are Colorless, But There Is Steady
Undertone To ListBy LESLIE GOULD
International News Service Financial Writer

NEW YORK, May 6.—Stock market dealings were colorless today, the list displaying a steady tone in extremely quiet trading. Leaders held in a narrow groove from start to finish and the general price averages ended a shade higher.

Stocks were irregularly higher at the opening, then moved a little higher on President Roosevelt's intervention in the soft coal deadlock. Fractional gains were registered by Eastman Kodak, Montgomery Ward, Bethlehem Steel, Goodyear, Chrysler, Standard Oil of N. J., N. Y. Central, American Smelting and Anaconda.

Among few stocks to lag were American Telephone, Union Pacific and U. S. Steel. A number of representative issues ended at their previous closing levels.

The Amsterdam Bourse turned in a listless performance. Alien currencies were mixed.

Most commodities showed moderate improvement. Cotton advanced about 25 cents a bale, while wheat climbed fractionally. Bonds displayed a firm tone in dull dealings.

Memorial Day Plans Progress

Dedication Of Spanish War Monument Will Feature Day's Program

PRITCHARD IS PARADE MARSHAL

Memorial Day plans are progressing nicely. General Chairman C. Ed Brown announced today, following the meeting of the general committee in the Legion Home last evening, when reports were submitted by the various committees.

The parade committee states that Ex-Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard has accepted the post of Parade Marshal, and that plans are shaping up for this feature of the celebration. As previously announced, Judge W. Walter Braham will be the orator of the day.

One of the features of the day will be the dedication of the Spanish-War monument on the Diamond, which has been erected by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Col. Daniel Leasure Camp, U. S. W. V. Commander Crawford of the state department and other Spanish War Veterans will be present for the occasion.

There will also be the customary services on Sunday evening, preceding Memorial Day.

Alien Payments Total $675,000 During March

Aliens Make Up Almost Six Per Cent Of Public Assistance Load In State

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, May 6.—Aliens in Pennsylvania received approximately $675,000 in public assistance funds during the month of March, Public Assistance Secretary Howard L. Russell reported to the senate today.

Answering a senate resolution requesting information on the number of aliens receiving public assistance in the state, Russell revealed that aliens make up almost six per cent of the commonwealth total assistance load.

The bulky relief rolls, with approximately 775,000 persons on the dole, included almost 45,000 aliens receiving direct relief.

In addition, approximately 4,000 aliens received old-age assistance totaling $76,294 during March—used by Russell as an average month.

Besides the direct relief and old-age assistance, aliens received blind pension funds totaling $20,028, Russell reported. About 650 aliens received blind pensions, he added.

Another 2,600 aliens mothers and dependent children received $27,644 during March, Russell's report disclosed.

Specifically, Russell's report showed that 5.6 per cent of the total relief load was comprised of aliens. More than 50 per cent of the cases containing aliens, he said, were family cases. Single persons alien cases totaled 16,000.

Allegheny county was listed by Russell as the heaviest recipient of alien direct relief during March, receiving $133,604. Other western Pennsylvania counties received:

Beaver, $13,927; Blair, $13,323; Cambria, $12,529; Centre, $526; Clarion, $116; Clearfield, $1,935; Crawford, $905; Elk, $739; Erie, $11,612; Fayette, $22,212; Indiana, $5,170; Jefferson, $714; Lawrence, $9,790; McKean, $9,218; Venango, $815; Washington, $18,931; Westmoreland, $20,085.

Shenango Firemen Plan June Jubilee

Shenango township's newly procured 500-gallon pumper, now standing ready for fire calls, will be inspected by the public during the week-long jubilee of the Shenango volunteer firemen's organization opening June 12.

Last night the township association met to start the jubilee plans. The Shenango firemen's relief organization also met. Harry S. Powell of Edison avenue was announced as the winner of an award the association offered.

Shenango residents should call 9180 in case of fire. After 9 p. m. they should call Ike Lytle at 4359-J or Constable Walter W. Waddington at 2746.

City Workmen At New Field

Street Department Crew Starts Work With Scraper This Morning

Under the supervision of John B. Brettell, city street commissioner, members of the city street department took the city scraper to the end of West Clayton street, to construct a ball field this morning.

Council recently granted permission for a field at this site in the ward, for the Mahoning Methodist church and the Seventh Ward Civics ball teams.

According to Brettell, he hopes to have the scraper work done in time today to put the roller to work on the playing field. A cut as deep as two feet in some places will be necessary to level the field.

NEWS BRIEFS IN WARD DISTRICT

Trees and bushes in the field near the Associated Box Company, North Cedar street have been cut and trimmed and put in good shape. Members of the track team from the Mahoning Junior High school are this afternoon, having a contest at the Ben Franklin Junior High track. This is the first meet of the season and the local team is quite hopeful.

Mrs. E. M. Johnson, West Clayton street, is leaving Sunday to attend a convention in Cleveland. O. of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the Ladies' Auxiliary.

IT does not make sense, but it is so. The newspapers print accounts of the Workers' Alliance organizing demonstrations against members of the California Legislature who voted to reduce appropriations; of Workers' Alliance spokesmen who threaten Congress with a "hunger march" to compel increased funds; of Workers' Alliance leaders making demands here and threats there always for the purpose of forcing a badly strained Government to give more and more money to WPA officials. These things are matters of record, not of opinion. The unexplained purpose of the organization is to put more and more people on the relief rolls and give them more and more money. Its weight is dead against efficiency as well as economy. It stands in the way of competent management and intelligent distribution. Yet the administration encourages and even flatters its leaders. Why? The answer is clear—the organization is an avowed supporter of the Administration—and boastfully in politics "up to our necks."

IT is really an astounding state of affairs which, once fully grasped, ought to shock the people generally. Perhaps it would if they were not anesthetized by the war atmosphere. Perhaps, despite the atmosphere, the revelations will inspire Congress to action that at least will break the tie between the Workers' Alliance, the Communist party and high Government officials. In addition to checking the waste there ought to be some way of preventing governmental encouragement of so obvious a game of "boring from within."

What's What At A Glance

Republicans' organization the other day warned Dewey not to associate much with ex-President Herbert Hoover, whom the Young Republicans described as a "reactionary." John Locke Green, one of their retiring district chairmen (retiring because he's over-age for a Young Republican), in plain terms gave it as his judgment that Herbert is trying to play Dewey off against Taft in order to get himself nominated as a compromise. Herbert is "persona non grata to the whole country," Green asserted.

Herbert evidently is receptive but I wouldn't call him a probability—not from what I hear.

Vandenberg And Others

Alf M. Landon is only barely mentioned, which surprises me slightly. His cause naturally was hopeless in 1936 for many reasons, one of which was that he practically was unknown outside of Kansas and didn't have time to publicize himself nationally. Since then he's done so, and favorably—but it's true, he's no spellbinder. Nor was it a favorable advertisement for him to be whaled as mercilessly as he was the last time he ran.

After Dewey and Taft, Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan undoubtedly rates. Personally I like him. He's a newspaperman and nice to newspapermen. He also is an exceptionally able statesman. But he has a drawback or two. For one thing he's been a presidential possibility for so long that innumerable shots have been taken at him by rivals. Furthermore Tom Dewey likewise once lived in Michigan; hence Vandenberg isn't the Wolverine commonwealth's favorite son quite exclusively.

Just hinted at are: Senator Clyde M. Reed of Kansas. Governor James W. Bricker of Ohio and Arthur H. James of Pennsylvania and Federal Supreme Justice Owen D. Roberts, also originally from the Keystone state.

But there are only chirps thus far in any of that quartet's favor.

Dewey is the outstanding personality.

Five Sentences In County Court

Prisoners Are Before Court For Disposition Of Cases This Morning

Five sentences were handed down today by Judges W. Walter Braham and Thomas W. Dickey, sitting in sentence court.

Steve Travers was first on a charge of breaking and entering. He was sentenced to pay a fine of $1, and costs of the case and undergo imprisonment for not less than one nor more than two years in the Allegheny County workhouse.

Albert Dell, driving a car without the consent of the owner was fined $25 and costs and placed upon probation for a year.

Levi Strayer and Louise Rice were up on morale charges. Strayer was fined $1 and costs and four months to the Lawrence County jail. The Rice girl was held over for further investigation.

Joseph Stinett, colored, was up for desertion and non-support. Assistant District Attorney Leroy K. Donaldson told the court that the man has a wife and three children who have been getting between $40 and $50 per month from the relief authorities. Stinett is receiving a $15 a week award from the Workmen's Compensation for an arm he lost in an industrial accident.

He was ordered to pay his wife $28 a month.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright 1938, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

DOCTORS RESORT TO TRANSFUSION IN EXTREME CASES OF ANEMIA

I don't think there is any reason in the world for a baby to suffer from anemia, unless it happens to be a premature baby. If anemia develops with a full-time infant, then it means but one thing—improper diet.

If the child is premature, then anemia is one of the diseases you can expect. The reason for this is simple; the baby was born before the mother could store in the child's system the amount of iron needed to carry him along until he could begin taking a diet that would provide it for him.

Don't think the case is hopeless, however. I think the Quintuplets proved this to the world. They had almost all the handicaps a premature child can have. It does mean that you must be extra careful, and you must lean heavily on your physician for advice.

I knew we tried in every way possible to provide the necessary iron for the Quintuplets. We gave it to them in their diet and by medicine. We did the job so well, in fact, that when their teeth began to come through, they were stained with iron. We then had to have a dentist come in and clean those stains off. We didn't want to take the chance of one of those stains hiding a cavity.

Sometimes when anemia becomes very, very bad, we have to resort to blood transfusions. This applies, more to adults than to babies, however.

In blood transfusions, you first have to type the patient's blood. There are four types of blood, and if you give a patient a type of blood different to his, then it doesn't do him any good. There is a series of steps which must be handled by doctors before a transfusion is possible. First, the patient's blood has to be typed; then your donor's blood has to be typed. If it happens to be the wrong type, you have to find another donor. Hospitals usually keep the names and addresses of blood donors with their classifications, but out in the country we don't have those conveniences. Even after the blood types of both people have been determined, another check is made by mixing a little of the two samples. If they coagulate, then it would be a dangerous thing to give a transfusion.

When we were considering giving the Quintuplets the transfusions for anemia, we even went so far as to type their blood. All of them have Type One blood. We typed them again just before they were operated on for their tonsils, and again they were Type One. Fortunately we didn't have to go through with the transfusion either time, and probably we never will.

SENATUS ROMANUS

The regular bi-weekly meeting of Senatus Romanus was held in the cafeteria Tuesday, May 2nd, with Consul Premus Helene Edgar presiding. The minutes of the last meeting were read by Scriba Helen McCommon. An announcement was made by Ed Portney concerning the party to be held for new members Wednesday evening, May 3rd at 7:30.

Following this, Russell Minick was elected as our one "conscript" member.

It was definitely decided that a special meeting would be held the night of Open House for parents, May 12th. The committee in charge of plans for this occasion is composed of Irwin Master, chairman, Jane Morris, Carolyn Cosel, and Jim Hares.

The meeting was then turned over to Helen Logo who directed the group in singing Latin songs to be presented as a part of the meeting the night of Open House.

COMMERCIALS

Miss Myrtle Lord announces that the certificate test given by the American Institute of Filing has been taken by the different students in the various commercial classes. Miss Lord stated that the only person to pass the test was Miss Anna Winter.

NATURE CLUB

The fifth meeting of the Nature Club was held on May 1, 1939 after the tenth period with Vice President Charles Kerestyl presiding. At roll call, each member answered to the name of an animal.

The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Miriam

Smith. The vice president then discussed old and new business with the club. Several announcements were made concerning dues and the signing of the Nature Club Constitution. The business meeting was then closed after which interesting facts concerning birds were read, and discussed by members of the class.

TOWN MEETING CLUB

The Town Meeting Club met Friday morning May 5, in the teacher's lunch room. Ruth Nunley, moderator, presided. The topic for discussion was "What is America's Greatest Human Need?"

Has Leg Broken By Parking Auto

Mrs. Maud Montgomery Suffers
Peculiar Accident Friday Afternoon

Mrs. Maud Montgomery, of 210 West Garfield avenue, suffered a fracture of the left ankle in a peculiar accident Friday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, when she was struck by an auto, which was being parked at East Washington street and Croton avenue, by Charles Benedict, of 226 Smithfield street.

Mrs. Montgomery had just stepped off the curb to board an East Side street car, when the backing car struck her, knocking her to the street. She was removed to the Jameson Memorial hospital, where she is undergoing treatment.

May 6.

Dear Brother Lion:

In keeping with the season's popular sport of golf, we will have as our guest speaker next Tuesday "Dike" Monsey, New Castle Field club pro. His subject will be "Golf."

Along with his talk he will give demonstrations of what to do and what not to do as to stance, addressing the ball, etc. We know it will be enjoyable.

The delegates to the district convention at Allentown will be selected at this meeting. The dates are May 14, 15 and 16.

Very truly yours,
THOMAS I. ELLIOTT, Secretary.

Election of a president and other 1939-40 officers of the New Castle Junior Chamber of Commerce will feature the organization's meeting in The Castleton Monday evening, May 8 at 7:30 o'clock.

The evening speaker will be Samuel Rashid, a member of the junior chamber, whose topic will be "The Origin of Weaving Oriental Rugs."

BUSINESS FOR KIWANIS

Club business will occupy members of the Kiwanis club at their weekly luncheon in The Castleton Wednesday, May 10.

Myrna Loy Will Appear In Another Rescue Scene

By MILTON HARKER

(International News Service)
HOLLYWOOD, May 6.—Myrna Loy, who was rescued by Clark Gable from a burning airplane in a screen sequence last year, will be rescued by Tyrone Power from a make believe earthquake in "The Rains Came."

Myrna hopes nothing goes wrong this time like the last, when the plane actually burst into flame and only Gable's agility prevented her injury.

So does Power, who frankly admits that ever since the quake which shook these parts five years ago any kind of a tremor gives him a squeamish feeling.

Elaborate arrangements have been made by the 20th Century-Fox for the earthquake, which begins a series of catastrophes in the story. On a huge covered set on the back lot a house has been built on tracks. On either side are huge pneumatic pumps which can shake the building as thoroughly as any real quake.

The quake comes during a party attended by Myrna, Ty, George Brent, H. B. Warner, Joseph Schildkraut and others. At the moment it comes Myrna and Ty are standing on a balcony and the quake brings down a supposedly heavy piece of masonry.

Ty must grab Myrna and pull her to safety although he is to be injured.

The supposed masonry isn't heavy enough to cause any serious injury, even if it landed fully, but it wouldn't be pleasant to get on the noodle.

"I told Myrna," Ty explains, "that if ever she jumped quickly in her life to jump quickly this time."

Hedy LaMarr passes the final test for glamour in a scene for "Lady of the Tropics" at M-G-M always presented before in the most exotic costumes. She's shown for this one time in a plain dress and apron bending over a stove.

She's cooking a meal—a very skimpy meal—for Robert Taylor, who is down on his luck since he married her. Hedy has to handle a steaming coffee pot and Director Jack Conway is a little fearful she may burn herself, but she does the job with alacrity, neatness and despatch.

Any girl who can lean over a stove and still look glamorous deserves some kind of award from the Motion Picture Academy of Arts and Sciences.

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)

Copyright 1939 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

An old friend of this writer, keenly and intelligently interested in world affairs, met a serious problem with the announcement that Adolf Hitler would deliver his historic speech at 6 o'clock in the morning. My friend is studiously interested in birds. Just at this time of the year there are important goings on in the bird world, with shifts here and there, the bird orchestra tuning up and various observations, inquiries and notations to be made by ornithologists, of whose company my friend is an enthusiastic member.

It was imperative that he get out on the bird trails at 5:30 in the morning, as usual. But he did want to hear Hitler. After earnest deliberation, picked the bird song for his matutinal concert, rather than the doubtless much more important caroling of Herr Hitler.

Very early, by dawn, that morning, he was out in the marshes with his field glasses and note book. I asked him just why he made this choice. His answer seemed at first far afield, but it became more relevant as he went on.

"Do you know what a song sparrow does first in the spring?" he said.

"No," I replied.

"Well, before he starts piping up a song or attending to any other early spring business, he stakes out a bush. Naturalists call that 'establishing territory.' That's his bush, in a fee simple, but more particularly against members of his own species. He might tolerate a robin but not another song sparrow. Then, before long, he has a mate.

"He is a modest little chap, with black spots on his chest, almost as insignificant as the little taxpayer of the cartoonists. But he gets himself a bush, with no inspectors or assessors nosing in, and then he starts his song—and he's a mighty nice singer."

I interrupted to ask my friend what that had to do with his choosing to hear the birds broadcast rather than Hitler's. Didn't he know all about the bush and the song, anyway?

"It's like this," he said. "The birds who are still doing business at the same old stand are the ones who never got together in any kind of lock-step—or lock-wing, to be more explicit. The great sun-darkening flocks of passenger pigeons of the middle of the last century are extinct because, like all too-gregarious birds, they were vulnerable. Their relatives, the mourning dove, a non-joiner, is still cooing peacefully all over the country."

"A few birds, like herons, will 'establish territory' in a flock in a large tree, but in most species this procedure is a definite assertion of individual rights, rather than flock rights, and an intention to maintain them. I don't want to spoil any poetry, but the fact is that even the most beautiful singers among the birds aren't singing love songs. Their song tells the world that this is Joe Sparrow's or Dan Grosbeak's own private bush."

"It is the males who do the singing and the song is as definite as registering a title deed. It is comparable to the crowing by which a rooster announces his authority in his own domain. I suppose it's human to like to string with a winner, and maybe that's why I picked the birds against Hitler. You certainly will have to admit that they were around here first and it is quite as certain that they will be 'establishing territory' long after his name has been forgotten, whether he snatches any colonies or not."

Hitler is, of course, the great world apostle of enforced gregariousness and anybody who knows birds will tell you that that's the way out for a species. There's another thing. If you get up around five o'clock in the morning for a few years and get your ear nicely tuned to bird song, you will learn that each bird is singing his own song. No two are exactly alike. You easily identify your friend, Dick or Tom, improvising his own declaration of proprietorship.

"So, if you live long with birds, and like them and understand them, you get more of a feeling of continuity and solvency and individual freedom and living resourcefulness in the universe than you would if you listened to Herr Hitler and the answering 'Sieg Heil' of his res-men. To a bird, a bush in the claw is worth two in the axis. And they get by, defended, only their own bush and raiding no others. That's why I picked the birds against Hitler."

Pedestrianism seems to be a lost art. That's a pity, for walking is stimulating. Walking is conducive to meditation. Walking brings one close to nature.

Walking is very healthful, too. The world's greatest philosophers were ardent walkers.

Tired nerves and jaded emotions find rest in walking.

One does not have to walk to Banbury Cross and back.

Three or four miles, leisurely, is an ideal walk.

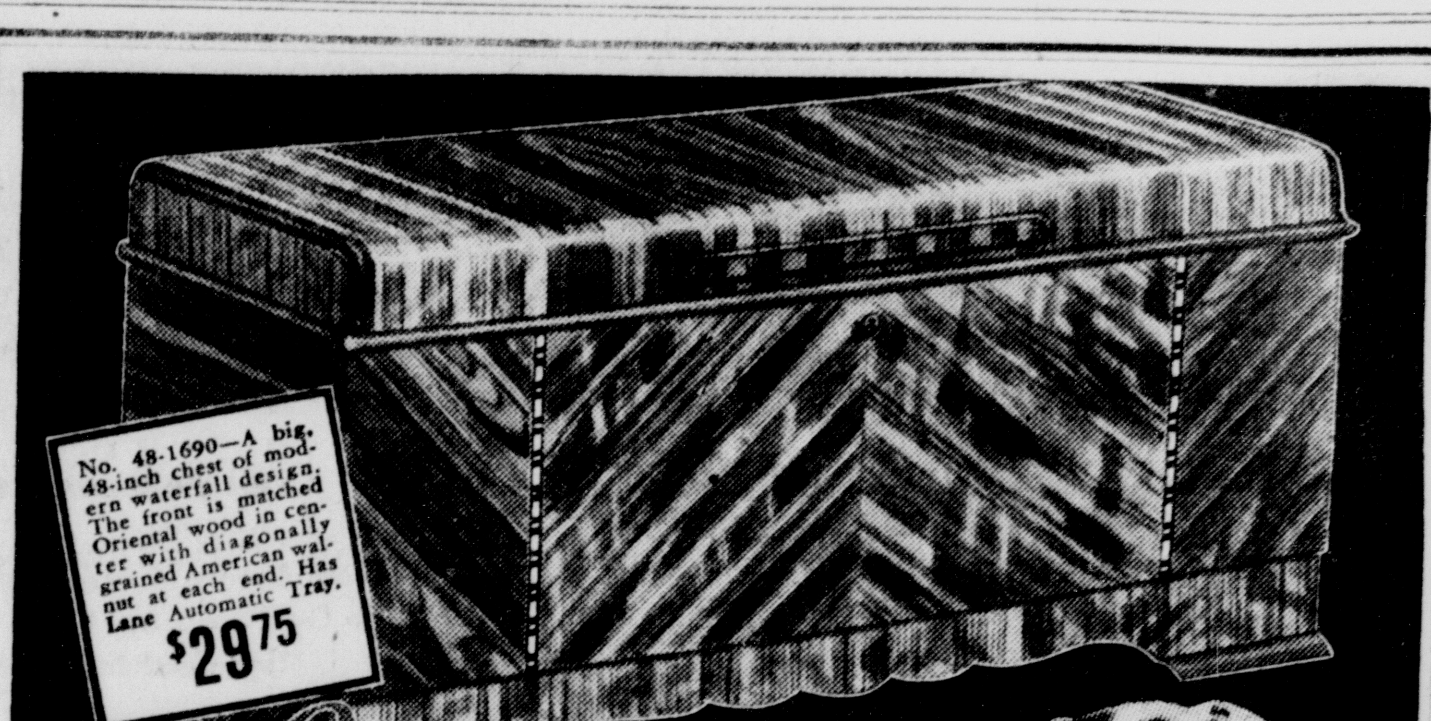

Walking is an exercise everybody can indulge in, regardless of age.

It should be the universal sport. Let us stroll down yon shady lane.

Sees Big Fire From Airplane

William Ice Flies Over $50,000
Fire While On Trip To Akron Friday

William H. Ice, local pilot, had the thrill of viewing a big fire from the air Friday, over Barberton, O. as a huge scrap pile of rubber tires went up in smoke. Estimated damage from the blaze was $50,000.

Ice was enroute to Akron, O., on a business trip when he encountered the fire. He stated the flames were shooting over a hundred feet in the air, and the huge volumes of smoke were visible from the air, for about 20 miles.

GAME TO BE STAGED IN BESSEMER, WAMPUM

Lawrence County Baseball league will open its season with five clubs in the loop and two games at 5:45 p. m. Tuesday, one at Bessemer and the other at Wampum, it was decided when Hillsville met last night. Hillsville drew a bye.

The games will find Ellwood City visiting Bessemer, last season's champs and New Galilee to be known as the New Castle Hot Tops at Wampum.

It was announced that Hardesty, pitcher and Hrvatine, outfielder of the Bessemer team are yet with the Butler Yankees. However should either fail to make the grade they will be in the line-up Tuesday.

The teams were represented as follows, last night:

Bessemer, Paul Nord and Webb Stanley; Hillsville, Charles Riley; Wampum, James Butchell; Ellwood City, Charles Langrat and New Galilee, or New Castle Hot Tops, John Pusetti.

The president of the circuit is Alec Samuels.

All games will start at 5:45 p. m. New Castle time and reports must be submitted to The News the night of the day the games are played.

Baseball School Ends Saturday

The baseball school for youngsters that Mike Orlando, manager of the Columbus Club has been staging at the E. & A. Field for the past several days, came to an end Saturday evening.

Over 100 young men availed themselves of the opportunity of the baseball school for youngsters learning the fundamentals of baseball as played today. Orlando has had a number of years experience and imparted his knowledge to the young boys who someday will be members of the Columbus Club team.

The Columbus Club will start the City Baseball league season on May 14 by meeting the Slovack Club at the Clifton Flats Field.

Girls Softball League Organized

Will Start Play On June 6, With Eight Teams In League

There will be a girls softball league here this summer, with eight teams in the circuit, Rocco P. Viganio, head of the loop, announced today following the meeting held at the "Y" last night.

The playing nights will be Tuesdays and Thursdays. The league will open on June 6. Girls rules will be observed in the league and only teams residing in Lawrence county will be eligible to participate. Each team will be allowed 15 players. They will play seven-inning games, and will pick umpires out of the crowd.

The following teams took out franchises: East Side A. C. Arena, Booker T. Washington, Friendship Streets, Cherry Streets, Liberty Streets, West Pittsburgh and the Checker Girls.

Hardware Men Jump Into Lead

Take Five Points To Head Sylvan Heights League In Opening Match

Showing splendid form, the Hardware Merchants jumped all over the News team in the opening match of the Sylvan Heights Golf League played at the city course last evening, and took the lead in the race which promises to be a colorful battle all the way.

Shelby Social and Unions are but half a point behind, the Ellwood City entry, with a well-balanced combination taking 4½ points from the Pitts, while Unions did likewise to Pennsylvania Railroad.

Although the ground is still a little damp and the extra roll which is looked for in the summer was lacking, some excellent scores were shot. Gayle McCoy of Bab's had two over par for a 39 to be medalist, while Marty Segedi of Shelby Social, J. Perry and Joe Mazzari, of Reynolds, Summers and McCann had 39½. Chuck Perrotta, Gardner Kovach, Oxnard and Book, shot 40½ in the low scoring bracket.

The results of other matches showed Reynolds, Summers and McCann defeating Bab's, 4-2; with Saegertowns and Carnegie-Illinois splitting even at 3 all.

Pirates Defeat Phillies 10-7

Both Boston Teams Lead Leagues, Bees Lose To Reds In 13 Innings

CLEVELAND ROOKIE HANDCUFFS YANKEES

By PAT ROBINSON

International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 6.—The freshest bushy ever came up to the big league today is being hailed as a miracle man in Brooklyn where, ordinarily these days, the only miracle man is an undisciplined politician.

The freshest bushy, of course, is Leo Durocher, and he cheerfully admits the soft impeachment. He even boasts about it as well as his undeniable talents as a "jockey," which in baseball parlance is an hombre who is forever "riding" the opposition.

Shaky Start

They got off to a shaky start but they never quit trying and yesterday's second straight victory over the Cubs, 6-3, was their sixth win in their last seven starts.

Only those rabid Dodger fans expect them to stay up that close to the lead but if head-up baseball and the old college try will turn the trick, they may feel the experts who tagged them for the second division.

The Giants got off to a nice start on two homers by Bob Seeds, good for four runs, but wound up on the short end of a 7-5 score against the Cardinals.

Pirates Top Phils

The Pirates pounded out a 10-7 decision over the Phils and the Reds had to travel 13 heats to get a 5-4 nod over the Bees.

Homers by Fox and Cronin and Rookie Woody Rich's 3-hit pitching enabled the Red Sox to beat Schoolboy Rowe and the Tigers, 4-1, the victory moving them up to first place when the Yanks were beaten by the Indians in 11 innings, 2-1, with Rookie Milnar pitching.

The White Sox, still going strong, nosed out the Senators, 2-1, in a southpaw duel between Lee and Krakauskas and the Athletics pounded out 17 hits to get a 10-5 verdict over the pitcherless Browns.

Sportsmen To Meet Tuesday

Lawrence County Sportsmen's association will meet at 8 p. m. Tuesday in city hall, according to President George Sillman. Gordon Kriebel, state game commission lecturer, will display wild life photographs. He will take pictures of newly-hatched pheasants at the Jordan game farm next week.

Plans for the field trials will be discussed.

The association proposes to repair the fair grounds traps and skeet buildings.

Okay, you call this one! Safe? Or is he out? He's safe, by a close one. The runner is Mel Ott of the Giants. The first baseman is Frank McCormick of the Cincinnati Reds. The scene is New York.

Nobils Defeat Johnson Bronze

The Nobils softball team of the City softball league, with Norman and Sam Bishara on the mound, defeated the Johnson Bronze team of the same league last night at Rotary field in a warm-up game 5 to 0. The J. B. boys only had three hits. Manager Italo Amodie has signed Sammy Bulano for the Nobils team.

New Castle Turbine Generator Develops Enough Power To Lift Pitt's Cathedral Of Learning

Power enough to light 583,000 60-watt electric lamps—
Power enough to lift a fifty-story, 90,000-ton building 510 feet, only 25 feet less than its own height, in one hour—

That is the power-plus story exemplified by the new Westinghouse tandem compound steam turbine generator in the New Castle power plant, which generated electric energy for the first time Thursday. Largely, too, it is a story of Pennsylvania engineering, industry and public service. The turbine was built in the South Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, works of the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company. The huge 14,400-volt hydrogen-cooled generator is a product of the East Pittsburgh Works of the same company, while the power transformers which step up the current to 66,000 volts for transmission were manufactured at the company's transformer plant at Sharon.

The same company also produced switchboard equipment used in the new plant, and numerous other transformers of various sizes to reduce voltage for factory and household consumption in the territory served.

Pennsylvania coal supplies the heat needed to generate steam in the boilers and shoot it at tremendous pressure into the turbine.

At its nominal rating of 35,000 kilowatts, the turbine generator is capable of supplying all the present electric power requirements of the district it serves. At its maximum capacity, it can produce 25 per cent more energy. Space has been provided in the new power house for installation of another similar turbine generator unit, should future power demand make it necessary.

Big figures describe the new turbine generator, for it deals in them. For example, to produce 25,000 kilowatts, 274,400 pounds of water in the form of steam must be passed through the turbine in one hour. If operating at maximum capacity, 343,000 pounds of steam per hour are necessary.

The unit weighs approximately 578,000 pounds—289 tons—exclusive of condenser. It is 58 feet long, 13 feet wide at its widest point, and 16 feet high from the floor line to the top of the arched connecting steam pipe between high and low pressure turbine cylinders. Its rotating element alone weighs 18 tons.

Superheated steam at a temperature of 900 degrees Fahrenheit and a pressure of 800 pounds to the square inch rushes through the turbine at hurricane velocity, more than 102 miles an hour. In its passage, it pushes aside thousands of windmill-like blades on the "rotor" section of the rotating shaft, turning the shaft.

There are more than 8,000 blades in the turbine, varying in length from less than 2 inches to 18 inches. Some are affixed to the rotating shaft, others to the inside of the stationary part of the turbine. As the steam is forced past them, the shaft is turned at a speed of 3,600 revolutions per minute.

At that speed, blade tips on the largest "windmill" in the turbine travel more than 789 miles an hour—faster than the velocity of sound.

To make the powerful machine still more efficient, hot steam is extracted at five different pressures along the turbine. That steam is piped to feed water heaters (or heat exchangers), where it is used to heat water to an economical temperature before passing it to the boiler. In this process, the boiler is relieved of some of its heating job of converting the water into steam for re-use in the turbine.

Steam that has given up its energy in passing through the blades in high pressure and low pressure elements expands and cools in the process, and passes into the condenser, where it becomes water again at a temperature varying from 80 to 101 degrees Fahrenheit, depending upon the suction exerted, or vacuum created to pull it through. In the new installation, the vacuum is between 28 and 29 inches, which means from 28.30 to 29.30th of a theoretically perfect vacuum.

The condenser extends 20 feet below floor level and 22 feet long. It provides more than 33,000 square feet of effective cooling area—the total outside surface of hundreds of one-inch brass alloy tubes around which the steam is passed and condensed to water for reintroduction into the boiler.

To cool the condenser, approximately 43,000 gallons of river water must be circulated thru the brass pipes every minute—and in the cooling process, the temperature of the river water is raised about 12½ degrees Fahrenheit.

A principle familiar to users of hydraulic brakes is used on the governor and operating mechanism of the turbine generator to keep the speed of the shaft constant. An impeller pump on the shaft increases or decreases oil pressure on the governor, causing it to decrease or increase the amount of steam being admitted.

But the power supplied by the turbine itself is mechanical power, which must be converted into electrical power by a generator. That conversion is done by a big Westinghouse generator coupled directly to the turbine shaft.

And big figures are in order again in talking of the generator. It weighs 279,000 pounds—nearly as much as the weight of early electric locomotives. Its rotating unit or

"rotor", which is coupled to the turbine shaft, weighs 43,000 pounds—21½ tons.

In the generator are 11,170 pounds of copper—more than five and one-half tons! And if that copper were drawn into a single strand of wire the same size as that used in ordinary doorbell circuits, the strand would be 425 miles long—approximately the distance between New Castle and New York City, by the shortest direct route!

The generator itself is sealed in a cylindrical shell containing hydrogen, an extremely light gas that offers only one-tenth as much resistance to the rotating element as would be offered by air. Heat developed as the generator rotor turns, 3,600 times a minute is carried away more readily by hydrogen than air. The sealed shell keeps dirt and moisture away from the unit, and thus reduces maintenance costs and increases efficiency and length of service.

Power transformers used in the New Castle plant also call for big figures. Four of the huge transformers were made by Westinghouse at Sharon. Only three will be used at any one time, the fourth being a spare unit which will be ready to go to work in any emergency.

The transformers weigh 86,700 pounds each, are 17½ feet high and 13 feet in diameter. Heavy metal casings house the transformer coils, which are immersed in oil at all times. Each transformer holds 2,968 gallons of oil, which helps to conduct heat away from the coils and to insulate them from any contact with the grounded parts of the units. They will step up the 14,400 volts generated at the New Castle plant to 66,000 volts, for transmission over power lines.

Junior Garden Club Members In Session

The New Castle Junior Garden Club held their monthly meeting Thursday evening in the Library of the George Washington Junior High School. A short talk was given by Mrs. H. O. Sturdevant on the New Castle Park Board. After this talk, an open floor discussion was held on the subject of Mrs. Sturdevant's speech.

A report was made on the planting that has been done so far in Gunton Park by the members of the Junior Garden Club.

One of the special guests for the evening, J. Alexander of the City Council gave some interesting facts concerning the workings of the park system.

Other special guests for the evening were John Robinson of the Men's Garden Club, Mrs. A. H. Martin and Mrs. H. H. Ferver.

If the weather conditions are favorable, there will be a wiener roast in the park in several weeks to which special guests will be invited.

The next regular meeting of the club will be held on the First Thursday of June at seven o'clock in Gunton Park's main picnic grounds.

The tax liens sent over to the prothonotary by the county treasurer have been numbered and the last number put on them was 14,571. Some idea of the work connected with them can be seen from a few facts.

They were signed in duplicate by the county treasurer which means 29,142 signatures.

Each one is numbered in two places and stamped "filed" which means 43,613 stamping operations. In addition a complete set of numbers is put in the record book which is 14,571 more stamping operations.

To file them it will require 29 filing cases and 17 dockets. The work required to file them will keep the clerks on the job busy until late in the fall. A few days ago we estimated they would be through by Labor Day. The girls will compromise on Thanksgiving.

Each one of the liens brings a dollar from the district for which it was filed. The school district of New Castle owes $3416, and the county owes $6892. When the liens are satisfied there is a satisfaction fee of $125 on each of them.

The following actions have been filed in the office of the prothonotary and clerk of courts. Agnes Eudy of Ellwood City asks a divorce from her husband Winifred Eudy on the grounds of desertion. They were married November 3, 1933.

The Dollar Savings Association files an action against Bessie M. Gusky, administrator of the estate of Harry Rosenblum. Bessie M. Gusky, Rebecca R. Cohen, Alex Rosenblum, Dorothy Sellin, Mollie Blume, David Rosenblum, Abe Rosenblum. The action is for the satisfaction of a mortgage now amounting to $553.87.

Evelyn E. M. McConahy Anderson of New Castle files a suit for divorce from her husband, Hadley Anderson on the grounds of desertion. They were married June 22, 1937.

H. H. Martin files an action against Richard and Julia C. Splain to recover on a mortgage amounting to $1090.

Jennie M. Seaton files an action against William V. Gibson to recover on a mortgage of $1100.

W. K. Hugas files an amicable action in ejectment against Michael and Sara Ratchford.

Adolph Roth files against Adolph Zurasky, administrator in the estate of Julius Zurasky to recover on a note of $200.

Kenneth O. Brown and Minnie Brown file an action against Adolph Green for a total of $3700 damages incurred when the car of Mr. Green collided with the Brown car at the intersection of Hazelcroft and Delaware avenues on February 8, 1939.

A gentleman by the name of Isia Pietronilla, of Indiana, is happy today because Deputy Sheriff Paul Stark had a hunch. Several days ago he noticed a car standing at the curb near the Stark home two days and nights Mr. Stark got the idea that it was stolen. He checked the number and found it belonged to Mr. Pietronilla.

Examinig the car again he found the keys in it so he drove the car to the sheriff's garage and notified the state police. The Butler barracks put the car information on the teletype and in a short time had an answer from Mr. Pietronilla. He came to New Castle and was delighted to get his car back. He had driven to New Castle a week before when it was stolen.

The application of John Dewey Seever for a parole from his two terms of life imprisonment in the Western penitentiary will be heard on Wednesday May 18 is was announced today. The application for parole will be opposed vigorously by District Attorney John G. Lamoree.
